Your contributions make a difference

Your council tax contributions over the coming year will continue to make a huge difference to those policing teams fighting crime in our communities.

A 'back-to-basics' approach over the last 12 months has seen Surrey Police become one of the fastest improving forces in the country.

The charge rate has doubled, officers have made over 2,500 more arrests and huge strides have been made in tackling crimes such as burglary, shoplifting and violence against women and girls.

But there is always more to do. That is why this year's increase of 4.3% in the policing element of your council tax is vital in giving the Chief Constable the resources to sustain this positive momentum.

Asking the public for more money in the current financial climate is incredibly difficult and I want to thank residents for their continued support which is so crucial.

The Force is making every effort to find efficiencies so we can provide the very best value for money. But around £18m in savings must still be found over the next four years.

Our policing teams do a fantastic job keeping our communities safe. I want Surrey Police to build on the brilliant progress they have made over the last year and continue to tackle those issues that are important to you.
